Jamison Barr, Corporate Counsel at Jenzabar, Inc., has been using Corporate Focus since 1997. "Corporate Focus makes my job that much easier and working without it at this point would require me to spend additional time tracking vital information," according to Barr.

"Shortly after being hired by Jenzabar, a number of data intensive corporate transactions took place, in addition to the day-to-day reporting that is required in my department. To boost productivity and reduce outsourcing costs, we installed Corporate Focus," according to Barr

"Corporate Focus is designed in a way that eliminates the traditional integration bottlenecks associated with large scale data transfer. From the start we worked closely with the support staff to export files from our outside counsel's database to the new internal database. The entire process was completed in no time," according to Barr. "With the help of Two Step Software's support group, the data was moved and upgraded easily. Two Step's customer support staff can handle any glitch or software related problem in a timely and courteous manner."

"Inside the industry, Corporate Focus is quite unique in its capability. The feature set is rich in options yet intuitive in nature which allows users of all technical abilities to navigate properly and efficiently," according to Barr. "Corporate Focus is the only product on the market that provides as high a level of features and functionality built in to meet the rigors of corporate law. I would recommend it to others."

According to Barr, "The Corporate Focus product has a complete set of features unmatched in the industry to date."
